Flight Attendant Recovery Group
Support At Every Altitude

Since 2013, we've combined evidence-based care with spiritual discovery and community support, all in the heart of Los Angeles, California.

Healing starts here.

Recovery designed for your flight plan

At Breathe Life Healing Centers, we understand the unique challenges flight attendants face, erratic schedules, isolation on the road, and high-pressure environments.

That's why we've created a specialized group that meets twice a month onsite, just for current and former flight attendants navigating recovery. Whether you're new to sobriety or maintaining long-term recovery, this group offers real-world tools and support to help you thrive, both on the ground and at 35,000 feet.

You'll leave each session with actionable tools, new connections, and renewed confidence to protect your sobriety, no matter the route.

Whether you're commuting to an airport or flying international legs, our Flight Attendant Group gives you grounding, connection, and practical tools to support your healing.
